City Budget Increases: Taxes Remain Same

ARE THESE YOUR YOUNGSTERS? Probably not, as the young braves in this pix make their home on the Navajo Reservation in Gallup, New Mexico. How they came to sport these shirts is explained in the article below.

Daly City Comes To The Indians

Navajoes Prefer Our Town To "Hoppy"

Ask any Daly City small fry the most popular name in these here parts and he'll immediately reply "Hopalong Cassidy."

Now shift your gaze to the Navajo Indian Reservation at Gallup, New Mexico. It stands to reason that the young braves aren't going to name a cowboy who often gunned for "injuns." No, their favorite name is none other than "Daly City."

This strange turn of events came about several months ago when Frank Bria, 250 Willits, donated a dozen shirts to the SANAI (Society for the Advancement of the Navajo Indian). The shirts were formerly employed by the Daly City Boys Club, but have gone out of favor here over the past years.

Bria figured it was a worthy cause as SANAI now cares for more than 1500 orphan children already on the Navajo Reservation. No one would take issue with Bria's donation, but neither could any resident figure how popular those shirts were going to be among the younger Indians.

When the dozen lads at the SANAI orphan home received the shirts they were impressed no end with the words, "Daly City." It sounded important and went well on the chests of a proud people.

The boys immediately went a step further and formed a "Daly City Boys Club" right on the reservation.

Over the past months the shirts and name have become so popular that the boys have scraped together enough money to buy more shirts. Yes, everyone of the new shirts is imprinted with "Daly City Boys Club."

That's how Daly City came to the Indians.

Former West Pointer Takes Long, Last Trip ... Commits Suicide On Skyline

Alden McLelland, Jr., was a 35-year-old veteran and West Point graduate who had grown sick of life.

The breaks hadn't come his way. After graduating from the Point, McLelland went into the regular army. He liked it, and when war broke out he was quick to rise from a lieutenant to captain. Then, one day overseas, he received what came close to being fatal head wounds.

Shipped home to a hospital, McLelland was treated off and on for two years after the war ended. He wanted to get back in the army, but there was no place for a man in his physical shape. The army did the next best thing . . . they retired him as a Captain at 34.

New Job

Out of the hospital, the San Jose man got himself a job with the California Division of Motor Vehicles. It wasn't bad work, but it lacked the excitement of army life. Friends, including his mother, noticed he began to get despondent. His old wounds, too, were bothering him.

Then, last Saturday, he was driving along Skyline Boulevard near Colma when the end came into view. He stopped the car, got out, and removed a length of hose from the trunk of his car.

With the efficiency of a man who is used to stripping a machine gun blindfolded, he wrapped the hose tightly around the exhaust pipe. Taking the other end, he climbed back into the car, rolled up all the windows, and turned on the motor.

Last Words

As the cloud of death seeped into the tightly shut car McLelland took out a small notebook. He began to write:

"No reason or thing or person. I just wanted it this way, and planned it over the past few weeks. I'm just happier this way."

Then, with a thought for his wife and mother, he turned the page of the notebook and scrawled some instructions to officers.

As the gas began to take effect, the ex-soldier who had crossed oceans in defense of his country and in quest of adventure, wrote:

"This is just like going on a trip . . . never had a home anyway, and I'm used to traveling."

McLelland closed the notebook, and put it in his pocket. A moment later his travels, in this world, were over.

His body was found Monday morning by Alex Drevin of Buri Buri. Funeral services were held in the W. C. Lasswell & Company mortuary Monday afternoon.

Faulty Wiring Brings Fire Fighters Fast

Faulty wiring at the home of Mrs. Panessi, 33 Shakespeare, was occasion for a fire alarm in Daly City at 10:33 a.m. Wednesday.

Company No. 2 answered the call. Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy reports there was no damage.

Ex-Mayor Loses Case To City

The last phase of a bitterly fought case closed Tuesday when Superior Judge Murray Draper denied a motion for appeal by H. H. Smith and awarded the city a strip of land from Hillside Boulevard to Wellington.

This property, approximately 1,000 feet long, is to be employed as an extension of Brunswick Street. (See story on last city council meeting on page 1). The court has ruled the city must pay Daly City's ex-mayor $4,465 for the land. This is some $500 less than the city first offered Smith when the legal battle opened two years ago.

Smith had requested $156,448 for the land and damages. He claimed the strip would ruin land he had planned for a large motel on Mission and Hillside Boulevard.

Thief Has Eye Only For Cash

With an eye to cash, and little interest in grocery stock, a thief broke into the Keithly Grocery Store, 6390 Mission, Saturday evening.

The manager reports the total take was $44.90. The cash, hidden in a box under the counter, was the only thing taken, police said.

Entrance to the store was gained by breaking a back window.

Sick Man Sprints Over 50 Yards Running Along Side Of Runaway Car

Despite a 50 yard sprint by a sick man, nothing could save a car from ramming a telephone post here Monday evening.

Willard Johnson, 188 Palesti Street, San Francisco, had parked his car on Irvington Street near the doctor's office. He wasn't feeling well, and had an appointment with the medico.

When he got out of his machine Johnson dutifully locked the car. He turned to leave when the automobile suddenly began to move down the hill.

Whirling, Johnson ran back to the car and stuck his hand through the open front window. Desperately he tried to reach the brake. This failing he grabbed for the steering wheel.

As the car gained momentum Johnson ran along side steering it clear of several parked cars. Estimates are that he stuck by the car for almost 50 yards, after which time he was thrown to the ground.

While Johnson watched, his machine struck a parked car belonging to Donald Dickson, 538 Crocker, and bounced off a telephone pole in front of 162 Irvington. When it was all over, Johnson's car was ready for the scrap heap.

The final blow came when he was issued a traffic tag for failure to make a proper hill hold.

Johnson suffered minor ankle injuries from his gallant attempt to save the machine.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET

A discussion of proposed teachers' salaries, and a new school superintendent will be discussed by the Jefferson Elementary School Board Thursday, June 28, at 8 o'clock at the Woodrow Wilson school.

The public is asked to attend this regular monthly meeting of the board.

Freak Accident Nearly Blinds Local Woman

A freak accident at 1 p.m. Monday almost cost a Daly City woman her eye.

Mrs. Jackie Bryant, 269 Hillcrest Drive, was standing at the Mission-Hillside Drive intersection when a truck backed into the old signal light pole. The force of the blow broke the green glass in the signal light, and bits of the shattering glass struck Mrs. Bryant's right eye.

Taken to Junipero Serra Hospital, Mrs. Bryant underwent a minor operation in which most of the glass was removed. The exact damage to her eye has not been ascertained.

The truck was driven by a driver for the DeHaven's Transport Service, Redwood City.

Mayor's Son Finds Sharp Point Of Pick

Mayor Paul Green's son, James, age 6, found out Friday that an ice pick is a mean toy.

While playing with the pick, he accidentally drove its point through his left hand.

Taken to Junipero Serra hospital, the lad was treated for his wound. He is reported to be bandaged, but smiling today.

BUDGET SET AT $573,721 FOR 1951-52

Increased Population Holds Taxes At $1.29

(Ed Note: Due to technical difficulties beyond our control the full city budget was not available for publication this week. However, the more important items will be published in full next week.)

Although city spending is expected to increase some 13% ($69,516) during the coming fiscal year, taxes won't increase.

That was the good news for taxpayers this week as Thursday evening, June 28, the council passed a record high budget of $573,721.

An ever growing population, meaning an increased tax base, and higher assessed valuations, account for the status quo of taxes.

Slight Drop

In fact, taxes will show a slight decrease next year. The council estimated the probable tax levy for 1951-52 at $1.295, compared with a rate of $1.322 for the last fiscal year.

Rising costs, additional personnel and items of new equipment account for the necessity of stepping up the size of the budget, Mayor Paul Green said.

"However, it should be noted that the budget has not increased, percentage-wise, with the geographical and population increases which the chity has experienced," the mayor said.

Budget Words

In his annual budget message to the city council, the mayor said in part:

"During the past year the City has been able to perform many construction projects in the nature of Capital improvements, and has paid for those projects out of the general fund; although normal financing of the projects would have been deferred over a period of years. This, however, follows the Council's policy of operating on a "pay as you go" basis as nearly as possible, and reflects to the advantage of the tax-payer by making available better services and facilities.

"It is recommended that all departments be instructed to operate strictly within budgets approved for their respective operations, and that economy and efficiency of operations be continually improved as they have been in the past.

"Department heads and council committees should devote as much time as possible to long-range planning of capital improvements so that the expansion of facilities and services required by the growing population may be made available when needed."

Thug Risks Jail For 72c Loot

A thief risked a long jail term Monday by swiping 72c from three purses at the Mission Bell Motel, 6843 Mission.

The unidentified marauder reached into an open window and lifted three purses lying on a table. The purses belonged to overnight guests.

Police say the filcher returned the women's bags, but emptied them of the grand sum of 72c.

Police Throw Light On Several Matters

Mrs. Holliday, 408 Winchester, is certain we have a courteous police force.

Alarmed at noises she heard in her home early Sunday morning, she called officers.

When police arrived they searched the premise but could find no signs of intruders. And as a parting thought they installed a new fuse which had blown out earlier that evening.

GIANT FIREWORKS DISPLAY SLATED

Marchbanks Park Site Of July 4 Celebration

Everything from simple skyrockets to dazzling pyrotechnic displays are promised for Daly City's annual July 4 fireworks celebration.

This year, as in the past, the rockets will explode over Marchbanks Park. Weather and the time permitting, the display will get underway at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 4.

"Ours will be one of just three major firework events in the Bay Area," Dan Andersen, city administrator noted today.

The big show will be held at Marchbanks Park, but by the looks of things the fireworks will be fired in such a way as to be seen from many points in Daly City and Broadmoor.

Just before the show gets underway, the Daly City band will give a short concert.

No Price Cut Seen For Smokes

A temporary restraining order forbidding either Lucca Market or Hilltop Market to sell cigarettes for $1.49 a carton was issued this week by San Mateo County Superior Court.

This was the latest move by the Attorney General's Office to prevent county markets from selling cigarettes for less than $1.59 a carton.

However, no final decision on the case is expected until the "test case" of a Redwood City market is brought to court. No date has yet been set for this trial.

This Is No Place For Fireworks

One boy, a dozen firecrackers, and jittery nerves . . . all equal a common complaint on the police blotter these days.

Sunday afternoon neighbors complained of a youngster setting off the firecrackers on Evergreen Street. Police arrived and took the remaining fireworks away from the boy.

Firecrackers are forbidden by law in Daly City.

DALY CITY NO PLACE TO "RAISE FUNDS"

Two bums, not hoboes, found out that Daly City is a terrible place to raise funds.

The two "gentlemen" started a private donation campaign on Willits Street Sunday evening. Before they had collected enough to buy a good shot they were safely stored in the local cooler.

Seems several of the residents objected to the soliciting of funds, and promptly called officers. Following a night in jail, the "collectors" were released.

CITY GETS OK TO CROSS "38th"

Two Streets To Break Westlake Bellyband

Westlake's little "38th parallel" will be crossed without even a legal shot being fired within the next few months.

City Attorney Frank Blum announced today that the Ocean Shore Railroad, prompted by the city and the San Mateo Superior Court, has opened two streets across the controversial strip. South Gate and South Mayfair will be the two streets which will cut the band now dividing Westlake's area in the east and west.

Earlier this week Judge Murray Draper ruled Daly City will have to put up $2,500, as against $25,000 asked by the Railroad, as a deposit until such time as the value of the land crossed has been determined. Also to be decided, in another case, is whether Henry Doelger or the Railroad owns the strip of land in question.

Until the court's ruling early this week, the Railroad had managed to hold the strip of land in such a way as to prevent Doelger from moving freely east and west across Westlake.

The next step by the city will be the requesting of bids to carry out the extension of the two streets. Bids are expected to be called early in July.

ATTENTION, KIDS!!! COLORING CONTEST STARTS THIS WEEK

Hey, kids this is a contest just for you.

Beginning this week The Record in cooperation with local business men, will start a series of contests during the summer months.

The first contest, to run three weeks, will test your skill with crayons and coloring.

Many grand prizes will be offered the winners.

See inside The Record for full details.

No License ... No Junk Allowed

Homer and Milton Pappas learned early Thursday morning that it takes a license to gather junk in Daly City.

The two San Francisco junk men were seen loading a truck with bits of scrap metal at the new service station at Mission and School streets. As it was 3.24 a.m., Officers Benedetti and Benassini became suspicious.

Both Homer and Milton said they had a perfect right to the junk, and the owner of the station appeared to agree.

However, police charged the two brothers with failure to obtain a business license.

Does Life Begin After 70?

* * * * * * * *

Oldsters Asked To Sound Off

How good is a man or woman after 70?

There's a common notion that come this age the average man or woman is fit for nothing but the rocking chair.

"Not so," says Larry Shaw, a local gentleman whose active speech and interest in public affairs belies the weight of more than three score years.

"Too many people figure that when a man gets old he's finished. It may come as a surprise to some, but we all get old sooner or later. I think it's about time the oldsters were recognized."

WE AGREE

The Record is in agreement with Mr. Shaw, whose namesake, by the way, lived to the ripe old age of 92.

We would like to know what the young old folks are doing. What does a man or woman do with his or her time after 70? Does he work, or retire? What are his hobbies?

And who is the oldest living resident in Daly City?

The best answers to these questions, whether submitted by the oldsters or friends, will be awarded a $10 prize at the end of four weeks.

Meanwhile, the most interesting letters (or phone calls) received each week will warrant a story and a picture in The Record.

Here's a chance to let yourselves be heard, oldsters. Let's show the young folks that life really begins after 76.

HIGH BIDS DELAY WORK ON TWO CITY STREETS

KNOWLES AND BRUNSWICK EXTENSIONS MUST AWAIT DECISION BY STATE

A temporary stumbling block of several thousand dollars has delayed action on the extension of Knowles and Brunswick streets.

At their regular meeting Monday evening the city council opened bids for work on both these streets. All the bids were from 25 to 30 per cent higher than original estimates. As the state, via gasoline tax money, is footing the major cost of these two jobs, state approval must be given before work can proceed. However, the state, until now, has rejected all bids more or less than 10 per cent of original estimates.

"Under present conditions of rising costs, I believe the state may make an exception in our case, and we won't be forced to call for new bids," Mayor Paul Green said.

When the bids have been cleared, work will proceed to lengthen Knowles for 250 feet to tie it in with Junipero Serra Boulevard. This will then give Westlake residents an arterial street from their homes to the center of town. As for Knowles being made into an arterial, the council has promised an adequate number of stop signs so as to prevent the street from developing into a "speed way."

Direct Route

The Brunswick Street extension, for about 1000 feet through the old Smith Quarry, will give residents of Hillside Boulevard a direct connection with Wellington. Presently, to get from north to south east of Mission is impossible without first going to Mission Street.

But, as noted, when work on these two important streets will begin depends on the state's view of last night's bids.

Low Bids

Those bids were as follows:

Knowles Street: low bidder Eaton and Smith with $12,757; Lowry Paving Co., $13,558; Fay Improvement Co., $14,420; Harris Co., $14,988.

Brunswick Street: low bidder Eaton & Smith with $53,594; Harris, $57,418; Lowry Paving, $78,788; Fay Improvement, $107,949.

Bids were also opened on fencing for Frankfort and Edgewood Parks. In submitting its bid for a baseball backstop at Frankfort Park the Cyclone Fence Company noted it had changed the city's specifications. They asserted the plans submitted by the city were "not safe, and would not suffice in a public park." To consider this recommendation, the council took all the fence bids under consideration. Bidding were: San Jose Steel, $3,510; Cyclone Fence, $3,433; and Anchor Post, $3,292.

Bids for the Edgewood Park fence were: Anchor Post, $2,368; San Jose Steel, $2,753; Cyclone Fence, $2,388.

Paving Contract

The council also approved the paving contract for Edgewood Park.

Turning to city personnel, the council approved a $30 monthly raise for the city street foreman and the city water foreman. Their salaries are now $310 and $320 a month respectively.

Reports on the recent civil service test for senior stenographic clerk were read. Mrs. Evelyn Cahn will continue in her job as secretary to the council, and Mrs. Juanita Giusti was put at the head of the "waiting" list.

The council then adjourned, but not before setting Thursday, June 28, as a special meeting date for approval of this year's city budget.

The Hour Is Late: Where Is My Son?

"Where is my wandering boy, tonight?"

That is what John Cardinale, 103 E. Vista, asked officers Sunday evening when his 13-year-old son, Joseph, failed to put in an appearance.

However, Joseph wasn't far from home and at 11:45 p.m. put in an appearance. Police gave no explanation of the boy's wanderings.

FBI Seeks To Find How Drowned Man Met His End

Washed up by the sea last Wednesday morning was the body of John Robson, 66, address unknown.

The elderly man's body was discovered at the base of the 300 foot Thornton Beach Cliff (Daly City's foremost western boundary.) Mrs. Cross, 465 San Anselmo Avenue, San Bruno, found the body while walking along the beach.

Following a week's investigation, the FBI was only able to come up with the dead man's name, and the fact he was employed in 1942 as a ward attendant at Letterman General Hospital. He last resided in a Folsom Street rooming house.

No record of Robson has been found over the past nine years. Except for $25.67 in cash and a locker key, no identification was found on the body.

W. C. Lasswell & Company are making the funeral arrangements, pending further investigation by Coroner William Crosby.

County Taxpayers Face 8c Hike

With a record high county budget of $12,688,440 passed by the board of supervisors this week, county tax payers can expect an increase of about 8 cents per $100 for 1951-52.

A steady increase in county works is the reason given by supervisors for the boost.

In last minute changes Tuesday evening, the supervisors increased the appropriations for 14 county departments and reduced those of four.

The largest single increase was $12,280 for microfilming records of the county recorder's office.

Dog Almost Robs Boy Of His Eye

An overly frisky dog almost robbed a young boy of the sight in one eye Tuesday.

Vincent Summerfor, 10, 285 Acton Street, was playing in Lincoln Playground when a large dog suddenly jumped up to lick his face. The lick, in the excitement, turned into a bite . . . a bite which was but inches above the lad's right eye.

Young Vincent was treated at an emergency hospital, and doctors report no damage to the eye.

Local Post Office Opens New Money Order System

A new, modern and streamlined postal money order system will be placed in effect on July 1, 1951 announced Postmaster John F. Fixa today.

On Monday, July 2, 1951 the first of these orders, printed on prepunched tabulating cards, will go on sale at all post offices.

This innovation, another Hoover Commission suggestion placed in effect by the Postmaster General, will through decentralization, reduce the costs of handling and will speed the accounting procedure through the use of modern I. B. M. tabulating and sorting machines.

The Postal Money Order system was established on November 1, 1864 and has been the nation's outstanding medium for the remittance of money up to $100.

The new money order is printed on tabulating cards which have been pre-punched with the serial and regional office number. The orders can be issued from one cent to $100 and may be cashed at any post office or bank in the United States without additional cost.

After the orders are paid they are turned over to the Federal Reserve Bank which in turn exchanges them with the Regional Accounting Office of the Post Office Department. There are twelve such offices in the United States.

The Regional Accounting Office in San Francisco, headed by Mr. James F. Lynch, is located at 101 Bryant Street, serves 4127 post offices in seven states, Alaska, Guam, Hawaii and Samoa and employs 40 clerks who handle the money order accounting system.

In the calendar year 1950, the San Francisco Post Office had 2,692,047 money order transactions valued at $119,394,060.48. In addition to the money orders issued, there were 2,552,481 money orders paid, for a total of $69,527,414.74.

Overly Thoughtful
Perturbed Hubby Ends Up In Jail

A thoughtful husband will find himself in police court this Friday.

He is Justin E. DeFoe, 1708 Sweetwood Drive, who at 11:30 p.m. Sunday decided to drive to the bus stop at San Jose and Mission and pick up his wife.

When DeFoe arrived he allegedly spotted his spouse getting off the bus with another man, David Wik. Police report DeFoe "became perturbed."

A few minutes later an argument broke out between the two man. And when words wouldn't suffice, they came to blows.

Both spent a few hours in the local lock-up while Mrs. DeFoe raised bail. . . for her husband and Wik.

The two gentlemen were charged with disturbing the peace, and will answer the charge before Judge W. J. Sweeney this Friday.

Watch It, That Curve Is Sharp

Turning his car too sharply, a San Francisco man almost upset his car and injured his wife.

John Kapor, 2230 Bryant Street, was going west on Westlake Avenue Sunday afternoon when he suddenly made a turn onto Santa Barbara. At this point his brakes gave out, and the machine sideswiped a telephone pole.

The force of the collision threw Mrs. Kapor against a door, and she suffered a slight injury to her knee.

The car escaped without any major damage.

Mrs. Kapar was treated at Junipero Serra hospital, and released the same afternoon.

Cpl. Stahl Telephones From Anchorage, Alaska

The parents of Cpl. Richard Stahl, 275 Hillside Boulevard, received a pleasant surprise last Thursday when their son called from Anchorage, Alaska.

Cpl. Stahl, a graduate of Jefferson High School, asked his mother to say "hello to all my friends."

The Daly City man is with an Air Force radar station in Anchorage. He has been in the army since July, 1950.

Liberty Resigns Job With Local Attorney

Richard Liberty, known to intimates as Dick, announced this week that of July 1 he no longer will occupy a chair in the law offices of Thomas Bocci, 6654 Mission Street.

The congenial legal secretary noted today that he had "abandoned the pursuit of law." Plans for the future are indefinite, if not uncertain, Liberty said.

A popular figure in Daly City, Liberty is the father of one child, and resides with his wife at 68 Flournoy.

Education Expensive
Taxpayers Report Shows Local School Costs Increasing Each Year

(Ed Note: See editorial on rising costs of education, and local interest.)

Elementary school cost per pupil for the 2,034 pupils in average daily attendance in the Jefferson elementary school district averaged $143.66 for 1949-50, compared with $137.35 per pupil for the 1,798 attendance of 1948-49, California Taxpayers' association reported today. Data shown are the latest available.

Teacher salaries in the district averaged $105.82 per pupil for 1949-50, compared with $104.54 for 1948-49.

Other current costs in the district, excluding transportation, averaged $35.96 per pupil for 1949-50, compared with $31.45 for 1948-49.

Transportation costs for the district averaged $1.88 per pupil for 1949-50, compared with $1.36 for 1948-49.

"Public school costs are, generally speaking, increasing faster than school population is growing," the Taxpayers' association declared, pointing out that school costs per pupil for 1949-50 were higher than for 1948-49 in almost every district in California.

"Decisions on school budgets for 1951-52 are being made by local boards of education throughout California," the Taxpayers' organization said.

"Taxpayers should let their local school trustees know their ideas on school spending right now—rather than waiting until the public hearings come around in August.

"The school budget needs tightening up—just as the taxpayer is having to tighten his belt to pay for preparedness."

Jeep That Failed
Leading Police In 60 m.p.h. Chase, San Francisco Man Thrown From Car

A little too sure his jeep would hold the road Rollin E. Fabian, 1945 Hampshire Street, San Francisco, gave local police a merry chase Saturday morning which ended with Fabian out in the road and his jeep overturned.

The pursuit started at the corner of Crocker and Mission when Fabian failed to stop at a stop sign. Daly City officers turned on their warning sirens, but Fabian allegedly answered by stepping on the gas.

According to police, the San Francisco man was hitting 60 miles an hour when he made a turn off Mission onto Lowell. Half way around the turn, the jeep flipped over and threw Fabian clear.

While the machine was listed as almost a total wreck, the driver escaped with minor injuries, police report. However, he didn't escape a charge of reckless driving. He will appear in police court Friday to answer the charge.

Proposed Tax On Unincorporated Areas (Including Broadmoor) Shelved

The State Senate by a voice vote last Friday referred AB 3217, the measure by Assemblyman A. I. Stewart, Pasadena, to force incorporation, annexation, or new taxes on urban districts outside of incorporated cities, to an interim committee.

The measure, which was one of the most heavily lobbied bills in the 1951 legislative session, was debated on the floor of the senate for nearly an hour on the next to the last day of the session.

Had the measure been passed, the residents of Broadmoor and unincorporated Colma would have faced higher taxes. The exact amount of the proposed tax boost for this area is not known, although officials note it would be "considerable."

The action of the senate means that the entire question of taxing urban districts outside of cities, or so-called "Fringe Areas," more than in other portions of counties, will be referred to some interim committee for study.

Cities of California, represented by Richard Graves, of the California League of Municipalities, contend that the urban areas outside cities are obtaining a "Free Ride" insofar as services are concerned.

Graves used every lobbying artifice available in forcing the measure through the assembly, and the senate committee on municipal and county government.

On the other hand, counties of the state opposed the bill, holding further study should be made before additional taxes are imposed, and that further, most of the suburban districts are now paying their fair share of taxes, and that cities are the ones receiving the "Free Ride."

Veterans' Employment Rights Are Clarified

The 1951 amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act (formerly the Selective Service Act of 1948) broaden the coverage of job protection to include persons who leave positions to enter military service but who are rejected and to reservists who enter military service for short tours of training duty only.

"A new section in the act grants statutory leave of absence to rejectees and reservists on training duty, said Edward K. McMahon, head of San Francisco Bureau of Veterans Re-employment Rights.

"Upon their rejection or release from training duty, such employees shall, if they make application for reinstatement within 30 days following their release, be reinstated in their former positions without reduction in their seniority, status, or pay, except as such reduction may be made for all employees similarly situated.

This amendment applies only to persons who leave positions on or after June 19, 1951, the effective date of the Universal Military Training and Service Act," McMahon said.

McMahon also pointed out other changes that remove former restrictions and increase from 3 to 4 years the period a person entering or reentering the armed forces after June 24, 1948, may serve and have reemployment rights.

"These amendments are retroactive," McMahon said, "extending job protection to persons now in the military service who were not considered to have reemployment rights at the time they entered the armed forces because they accepted enlistments or tours of active duty in excess of 3 years.

Any person who desires assistance or additional information concerning the re-employment rights program should contact the Veterans Service Office, Courthouse, Redwood City, or write directly to Mr. McMahon, Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights, 102 Federal Office Building, San Francisco.

Hog Population On Increase

There should be more roast pork and baked ham for San Mateo county tables this year, the California crop and livestock reporting service stated today.

The service reports there are now seven per cent more pigs on California farms, an increase over the 54,000 hogs listed in the county at the last stock census.

The increase in pork production results from greater demands for red meat, the service said. High prices now charged for beef, lamb and veal have caused the housewife to turn to pork in an effort to stretch the budget.

The California spring pig crop is estimated at 536,000 head, of a total of 63,818,000 in the nation. The national increase is also estimated at seven per cent, about on a par with California's gain.

Chief cause of the larger pig crop is the savings per litter which averaged 6.3 per cent, highest since 1949.

The 1951 hog crop in California is expected to reach 958,000 head, five per cent above last year, and six per cent above the 1940-49 average.

Iowa topped all other states in the number of pigs saved, which represents the 1951 spring crop. The total was more than 14 million.

CATS RAPIDLY LEARNING FROM DOGS

Taking a tip from its traditional foe, a cat took a healthy bite out of a Daly City woman Wednesday morning.

The reverse on the usual dog act occurred in the backyard of 1031 Hanover. Bernice Barbero tried to trap the cat, and just about had him (or her, police give no report on feline's sex) into a trap when the cat turned. The local woman reports the mouser bit her on the left hand.

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSS GRAHAM

LEGISLATURE SAVES $150,000,000 BY STOPPING BILLS TO "LIBERALIZE" UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS

Results of the just-ended session of the California State Legislature show that corrective efforts applied to Unemployment Insurance bills resulted in saving to the Unemployment Insurance Reserve Fund of aproximately $150,000,000.00.

Savings Instigated

These savings were made possible by stopping all bills introduced to "liberalize" the Unemployment Insurance Act and the passage of three bills designed to tighten up present loopholes in the act, which, however, must be signed by Governor Earl Warren to become effective. The governor has 30 days from June 23rd in which to act.

"Liberalizing" bills were supported, mostly, by the California State Federation of Labor, (A F of L) and A F of L lobbyists strenuously opposed the reform program.

The bills now before Governor Warren for signature or veto are: AB 2502, which would curb the "lag-quarter" racket, whereby individuals have been collecting a total of 52 weeks (1 year) unemployment benefits, although the Act limits unemployment insurance benefits to 26 weeks or six month.

This bill would require that before a claimant could collect a second six-months' benefit on the same job, he or she must earn the minimum base earning requirement, which is $300.

6AB 1715 also is before the governor. This bill will restrict the growing practice of married women voluntarily quitting a job to follow their husbands to another city, and collecting unemployment insurance benefits, although they are not thereafter in the labor market as intended by the act.

The act provides that benefits should not be paid voluntary "quits" unless they quit "for good cause." The lack of a definition of what constitutes "good cause" has made possible this racket, and a definition of this point is an article of unfinished business that should be completed at the next Legislative session.

AB 676 also is before the governor. This bill gives a former employer who has discharged an individual for cause or the individual has voluntarily quit, a better chance to protect his (employer's) reserve account by better notice and seven days more time in which to file a protest.

It would apply when the worker has secured a subsequent job and been laid off, in which case the worker is entitled to benefits. If the former mployer protests that he should not be charged a portion of the worker's benefits on his reserve account, and the Department agrees, the employer's reserve account is not charged and his merit rating which determines the tax he pays, is thereby protected.

Employers Pay

Many people do not know that employers pay the entire amount of unemployment insurance tax, employees paying a tax only for disability insurance.

AB 2501, which would have raised the minimum base earnings necessary for benefits from $300 to $450, was defeated in the Assembly. The minimum in the State of Washington is $600 and this bil would have accomplished a needed reform without hurting any worker actually available for work.

A corrollary bill, AB 3376, applying to disability insurance only, was enacted and signed by the governor. It raised disability benefits from $25 to $30 a week and allows benefits to be paid workers on strike, provided the disability does not arise out of the strike.

Labor Introduces Bills

Despite the fact that the unemployment insurance fund collected almost $46,000,000 during January, February, and March of this year and paid out almost $43,000,000 in unemployment insurance benefits (during the period of highest employment in California's history) labor interests sought by introducing bills in the Legislature to raid the fund of an estimated $100,000,000 a year.

One bill would have eliminated the one-week waiting period. During 1950, d total of 640,000 claims were filed and if each claimant had received pay for this necessary waiting period, the fund would have be endepleted by about $100,000,000.

Another bill would have raised unemployment benefits from a maximum of $25 a week to $40 a week. This bill, had it been enacted, would have cost the fund an estimated $25,000,000 a year.

Farm Worker Included

Another bill would have included agricultural workers under unemployment insurance, although due to the migratory nature of most agricultural workers in California, administrative problems would be tremendous. It was estimated that had this bill been successful, farmers hiring agricultural labor would have had to pay a 6 per cent tax on their payrolls.

Another bill would have abolished the "merit rating" system for employers. This system, which rewards an employer who holds a steady work force with the least turn-over of workers, is regarded as a potent force in stabilizing employment. The bill a'so proposed to tax all employers 3.7 per cent of their payrolls.

Other bills which were defeated by the "reform" forces would have removed all disqualifications in the present act and opened the doors for raids on the fund which would have exhausted it in a few months.

Outlay Exceeded Income

During 1949, a year of high employment, the state unemployment insurance fund paid out $118,000,000 more than it collected in taxes from the employers.

During 1950, until this year the year of highest employment in California's history, the fund paid out in unemployment insurance benefits $16,000,000 more than it received in taxes.

During the first 3 months of 1951, with "ful employment" and industry begging for workers, the fund paid out in unemployment insurance benefits almost $43,000,000.

Despite the good work done during the 1951 Legislative session, it therefore is apparant the job has only begun. If the unemployment insurance fund is to be protected for the honest workers of California who honestly are out of work through no fault of their own, the fight must be carried on without cessation to curb chiseling and rackets.

THIS IS NO PLACE FOR KIDS WITH STONES

Kids often carry out adult impulses, often to the financial loss of local residents.

That happened Wednesday afternoon when a group of kids gathered at the end of East Moltke Street. However, before police arrived the children had disappeared.

They left behind some of their handiwork—a pile of stones and several smashed windows of a glass hot house.

County's Proposed Tax Boost Doesn't Appear Necessary

It's going to come as a real shock to north county residents when the 1951-52 county tax bills come around.

According to preliminary estimates, next year's taxes will be up at least eight cents on $100. That means a considerable piece of change to residents who are now paying taxes for services they never receive.

A good part of the next tax boost is accounted for in raises for county officials. Now, no man should starve; but we wonder if some of these officials (who are rarely seen in the north county) are worth from $7,200 to $12,000 a year. And how about those five gentlemen who in a last minute attempt Tuesday tried to push through an $800 a year raise for themselves?

Another large item on this year's budget is in the sheriff's department. We wonder how much service north county residents, most of whom live in incorporated districts, get from the sheriff's office?

There are many more items which from this end of the county appear excessively large.

But for the sake of argument, say the budget increases are necessary. In that case, what has happened to the county revenue from new residents, and a larger tax base? Daly City, and the majority of north county cities, has been able to hold the line on taxes by drawing on increased assessment valuations. Can it be that the county doesn't take these things into consideration?

It appears to us that north county residents should take the time to talk over the budget with the officials "down south." But more important, we think some of these elected men should visit the north county and actually see for themselves whether or not a budget increase is necessary. We think their answer would be negative, at least for the services accorded north district residents from the county money spent down south.

What Happened To Glowing Oratory of Budget Message?

The city budget, as the breakwater to mad pending, is about the dryest bit of reading this side of a congressional report on the Sahara Desert.

It's too bad, because this little item ought to be of interest to every taxpayer. After all the buck doesn't come easy these days, and all of us should wonder how it's spent.

Councilmen, aware of the futility of trying to arouse any interest in public spending, usually prepare a budget message couched in bright promises of where and what your dollar is going to do for the community. This year the boys are playing it close to the vest. They have to. The chance that today's prices will be doubled tomorrow, checks them from explaining a larger budget in words about new parks, better streets, and other civic helps.

The council's budget message was neat, and to the point. It all boiled down to we "pay as you go," and intimated that things around Daly City next year will remain pretty much the same.

We think the council's conclusion should please the majority of taxpayers...none of whom are eager to put out any more dollars, even if it is for their benefit.

However, we do miss the glowing oratory so free and glorious in the days when a council could be pretty certain to fulfill their promises with the taxpayers' money. Take last year, for example. There was a wonderful budget message which promised (and for the most part fulfilled) great civic changes. However, after a year's session of opening bids, most of which were 10 to 30 per cent higher than expected, the council is taking it easy on future building plans.

Still, we do wonder what happened to two outstanding general statements in last year's message.

There was $6,000 put aside to remodel city hall. We haven't seen much remodelling, and the chances are that same job today would cost close to $10,000. We also wonder what happened about acquiring a new site for a library and fire stations.

Small matters, we suppose, but they were signals the council paid close attention to. This year you won't find promises, just prayers that the city can get through the year on the increased budget.

Budgets are pretty dry, alright, and even more so with inflation. But now that the council has deflated its oratorical balloon, there's nothing left but dry, dirty dollars.

Stop Signs Are Needed On Woodrow Street

Stop signs don't cost much in dollars, but they can save many a precious life.

That is why a woman on Woodrow wonders why the city can't afford a couple of the signs at the interesection of Vista Grande and Woodrow. It was on this same street last week that a careless driver ran over a dog that might well have been a child. He was going along at a good clip because he didn't have to stop in a block which our lady reader estimates houses a dozen or more young children.

This is just by way of reminding the city to look into the problem. We don't advocate stop signs for every corner, but where there are a dozen or more children at play, it might not be a bad idea.

This City Is No Longer Run By The People, But By Officials

"Did it ever occur to you the city is so efficiently run that it isn't necessary for residents to attend a council meeting?"

That question was directed at us recently following one of our many editorials aimed at getting more people to attend council meetings. Need it be said, the question came from a city official?

It appears 99 per cent of the population agree that the city is so neatly piloted that no assistance is needed by the taxpayers. Come a council meeting, the residents in the next block turn on the TV set, settle down in an easy chair, and forget any responsibility either to themselves or their neighbors.

If council meetings were judged on popularity with TV shows, the council would go out of existence tomorrow. Last Monday evening, for example, exactly three people showed up in the council chambers. Two of these were "regulars," and the third appeared out of what he felt was a civic duty.

Yet, at that same meeting the council opened bids on Knowles Street. You residents on Knowles have been complaining lately that you don't want your street used as an arterial. But how many of you were at the council meeting Monday night to complain?

Having watched the council meetings for the last two years, we can't agree with the city officials who claim the five men are wise enough to run a city without the help of the taxpeyers.

Take it from us, those five men have displayed time and time again that they are far from all wise, profound, judicious, discreet or skillful in city matters. They, we believe, would be the first to admit the truth of this judgment. They are men and behave like men, trying to do a good job, no more.

And yet, if we are to judge from council meeting attendance, the city residents let these five men lead them as if the councilmen possessed all the attributes of Solomon.

This is a sorry state of affairs. First, for your elected officials.

When they do wrong it comes as such a great shock to the "peasants" who immediately condemn these officials without knowing the good they have done. Second, because for all the interest in local government you could just as well flourish under a totalitarian state...democracy is nothing but an over used word.

No, we don't believe any government (even that of Daly City) is so well run that everything can be left to the officials. But it looks like we are quite alone in this assumption.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

We've all heard it: "Ah, this town stinks. It's wide open. Anything goes here."

Never a day goes by that some such comment isn't forthcoming from local taxpayers. They speak of various "joints" throughout the town, rarely, however, pinning them down to any specific address.

Today, for example, a gentleman came into the ofice complaining bitterly that the standards of the town were so low that he moved to Berkeley. "This is no town to bring up children in."

Petty Bad

We think that is a pretty harsh statement. We asked him for a little proof of his accusations. He promised to write a "letter to the editor," a letter we think never will be written.

Now, after two years in Daly City, we are inclined to think it's a pretty fair place. For sure it is no paradise, but it comes close to being an ideal place to make a home. (That is, if you discount the heavy dew).

Like any city, Daly City has its share of vice. The day all the "joints" close up in town will be when it's wiped off the map with an A-bomb. We think the city officials and police do a fair job of keeping the town "clean." In some ways it could be better, but it compares favorably with the record of other Bay Area communities.

Mighty Tired

We're sick and tired of a lot of people running around town screaming about "dens of vice." From here on out, we would like a little proof. It doesn't take more than a citizen to get up and say to a councilman: "So and so is operating a joint. Let's close it down." Take two citizens with the same address, and the same conviction and we bet that "joint" will be closed within 24 hours.

Councilman Fred Bertetta, as well as the four other councilmen, has promised he will clean up the town, if there is any cleaning to be done. Why not go to him?

Come Here

Better still, come to The Record. This is your paper, and we are doing our best to serve you. If you have any legitimate complaint about crime, and adequate proof, we'll take your case to the city officials.

Yes, the time has come to put up or shut up. We are convinced the rumors of crime are about as exaggerated as the size of a midget in front of a long mirror. Yet, we are willing to be shown.

Your Town

After all, this is your town. You should take pride enough in your home and your community to defend it when necessary and to "clean it" when the time comes.

Still we are skeptical enough to believe that the reaction to the above will be completely nil. Most Daly City citizens are so complacent that they will do nothing but nod their heads when some outsider says "your town stinks," or go along with any theory as long as it doesn't require a little thought. From now to eternity, we are afraid Daly City residents will consider themselves as nothing but the "bedroom to San Francisco."

Paul Street Residents Fence In Vacant Lot

Another step to enhance the attractiveness of Paul street was taken with the recent erection of a fence around the vacant lot used for utility purposes by the A. Dolan Building Supply & Wrecking company.

The material for the fence was supplied by the Dolan company and residents of the street who accomplished the construction work were William Benedetti, Louis Dove, Robert Craig and Rene Chapot.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

This Week In The County - - -

THE COUNTY
THE TRY FAILED

It was a valiant try, but other county officials, leary of the publicity limelight, squelched the effort.

Late Tuesday night the board of supervisors turned thumbs down on five county officials who tried to push through a pay raise for themselves. The five were: Controller Fred E. Beer; Tax Collector Ralph A. MacArthur; Recorder Ruth Kirste; Assessor Osmer B. Hempstead and Treasurer A. H. Sagehorn.

The five, four of whom appeared at the final meeting before the record high county budget was approved, mentioned "about an $800 a year raise."

Supervisors, aware the elective officials had just got a pay boost January 8, shook their heads, but promised to look into the matter later in the year.

With this matter out of the way, the supervisors went on to approve a $12,680,000 record high budget. Taxjayers could get ready to groan . . . it looked like eight cents more on $100 out of their pockets next year.

BURLINGAME
IN A RABBIT STEW

Rabbits got a bum shuffle in Burlingame this week.

From the height of his bench, City Judge J. A. Branson issued a commentary on the whole thing wrong with city life. Addressing himself to Joe Carboni, who had kept the rabbits in his Burlingame back yard, Judge Branson said:

"When we live close together, as we do in a city, it is necessary to sacrifice something at times for the peace and quiet of the neighborhood."

Carboni agreed to get rid of the rabbits, but said he would give a young family of rabbits away. "I just could stand to kill them," he explained.

CRIME
NEAT COMBINATION

It was a neat combination . . . dumb crooks, and two cops who weren't hep to some essentials of catching thugs.

The would be hold up men were Dan Fitzpatrick, 28-year-old taxi operator and John A. Bendik, 30, of Castro Valley. Some four weeks ago they had gotten away with $2,000 from the Safeway Store on Alemany Boulevard and San Jose Avenue (the store just below Daly City in San Francisco).

Violating the first law of a good thief, the two decided to knock over the same store again. Monday morning they put in their appearance, but got the shock of their lives when two cops stepped out to greet them.

It took seconds for the bandits to recover, but it was considerably longer before the two policemen woke up. A scuffle followed, Fitzpatrick was shot, and the guns reversed hands. Holding the two startled policemen at bay, the two men slipped out of the store and made their getaway.

But like all stories of crime and the law, the gendarmes finally came out on top . . . both men were arrested 15 hours after they slipped through a net of police to San Francisco and Alameda respectively.

Today, the officers have learned the hard way that when you get your man you use a pair of handcuffs to keep him. The two bandits probably will have several years to think over their error in some state lock-up.

MARIJUANA STORY
SPANISH DID IT

Spanish broke up a marijuana ring here recently.

Tuesday, San Francisco police pinched George Y. Fernandez, 28, and Rueben Marin, 24. The charge was peddling dope to South San Francisco passers who in turn had given it to local youngsters.

Sure they had the ringleaders of the Bay Area "weed ring," the San Francisco police took the men to their apartment in the Bay City. The cops had to find some marijuana to pin the rap on the two "master minds."

It looked pretty hopeless. They had gone through the apartment, and found nothing. Then, Marin, talking in Spanish, to the "Phamtom Dope," said: "I hope they don't look in the refrigerator."

Today the two alleged dope peddlers are sitting it out in a San Francisco jail. It was all because Patrolman Gonzalo Morales understood enough Spanish to lead state narcotics agents to the refrigerator mentioned by Marin. There they found quantities of the "stuff" hidden behind some bear cans.

But that isn't the end of the marijuna story. The San Mateo County grand jury this week hinted it soon would be investigating the whole question of dope peddling in the county. Sheriff Earl Whitmore didn't seem worried, he said his department was doing a fine job of driving all of the marijuana "salesman" out of the county.

HUMAN WEAKNESS
NO MORE SLEEP HERE

Frank Perry is a 49-year-old San Mateo man with determination, if not good judgement.

Last Sunday firemen were called to his apartment to put out a small fire. He had fallen asleep and his cigarette had ignited the chesterfield.

Four hours later the firemen were back . . . Perry and his chesterfield were once more afire.

Perry didn't go back to sleep . . . firemen removed the chesterfield from his room.

WHO NEEDS HELP?

The rookie cop was leaving a drive-in restaurant in San Bruno Monday when he suddenly noticed the clerk had scribbled a hasty "help" across the face of the bill.

Without wasting a moment, the cop ran to a nearby police car and called for reinforcements. A moment later a second squad car pulled up in front of the restaurant.

Inquiring from the clerk what was wrong, she calmly replied: "The 'help' is just an accounting measure with us. Means nothing."

The rookie didn't have much to say, either.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

OVERSHADOWING anything else in Washington is the fight for and against extension of the National Defense Act of 1950 and the tremendous lobby which has been set-up to defeat titles four and five of the act which comprise the whole price and wage control set-up.

As has been pointed out in this column, big business, as represented by the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce and some segments of the national farm organizations, are spearheading the drive to eliminate wage and price controls. On the other side of the picture, there is the administration drive to tighten and strengthen the defense Act.

The opinion here, however, is that congress will not be stamped either way in radical action on the act which expires June 30, and likely will vote extension of the act very much as it is now and make whatever changes it decides to make at a later date, probably after the summer recess.

Action of the forces which are seeking to defeat efforts of Office of Price Stabilization to enforce ceilings on live cattle have not frightened OPS officials. As a matter of fact, the big cattlemen and the National Meat Institute, together with the Farm Bureau Federation, has had the effect of stimulating a united front among the officials of all controls agencies, who are now taking the position that beef prices controls are symbolical and that if the government cannot control beef prices which are farther out of line than any other commodity, the whole price control structure will topple. So these officials are determined to succeed.

Big western "cowboys" booted and spurred, striding up and down the halls of congress and around Washington hotel lobbies with that "howdy Padnuh;" delegations of beef producers from several states, brought here by train and plane to "influence" senators and congressmen and preaching a doctrine of "keep the cattle on the farms, they can't force you to sell your cattle and they can't put a soldier on every farm" is having exactly the opposite effect, not only on controls officials but on congress itself, according to observers here, and is crystallizing sentiment in favor of giving the cattle ceiling controls a chance to work, even if the strike of producers does keep beef off the market for a time.

There is a point where it becomes economically a losing proposition to keep on feeding a steer, and it appears the government is prepared to wait it out. Certainly, if it comes to the point where the army and navy needs beef, they will get beef one way or another.

The old timers here point to the fact that if steel or aluminum producers would decide, as have some beef producers, to keep their product off the market, it wouldn't take long for the government to act if the "strike" interfered with the mobilization program and the manufacture of needed tanks and guns and arms and ships.

The writer of this column attended a breakfast and luncheon tendered to a representative group of 42 Ohio farmers, brought down here by the Farm Bureau Federation to give the result of their "poll" on beef prices and was struck with the unanimity of their answers against any price control and particularly against beef cattle, going along with the national line propagated by the top officials of the Farm Bureau here in Washington. So the question was asked one member of the delegation: "If the Farm Bureau line had been for price controls and not against, do you suppose you could have brought down 42 Ohio farmers who are for price controls?" And the answer was "Of course we could."

"What the farmers really want," opined this Ohio farmer, "is a fair price for what I sell and a fair price for what I buy when I go into the hardware or implement store. The bulk of this opposition to cattle prices is coming from commercial feeders. It is not coming from the farmer who feeds out 20 to 30 head. Maybe he is disappointed that he is not going to make as much money as he thought he was last fall or this spring, but he certainly is not going to lose anything and with prices on what the farmer buys controlled he can't be hurt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. There are just two requirements: the letters must be signed, and must be within the laws of libel. We hope readers will show enough interest in their city to occasionally "sound off;" for the purpose of this column is to give you, the reader, a chance to express an opinion.

LOCAL CUBS THANK THE RECORD FOR PUBLICITY DURING THE YEAR

The Record
Daly City, Calif.
Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Cubs of Den 16 and Pack 36, it is a pleasure to write this letter of "Thanks," for the fine cooperation you and your staff have always shown us in printing and handling our publicity.

We do know that it has been read, and some ideas for crafts, etc., passed on to others who we hope will benefit from them and pass them on, too. Without the space granted us by The Record, this would not have been possible.

So again, thanks for your help in passing on to the community whatever "lift" anyone got from our small efforts.

Very Sincerely,

Argue From Others' Point of View

HENRY STRAINERT, of Richmond, Indiana, once saved $13.80 by merely seeing the other fellow's point of view, and he says that that was better than earning the same amount for it gave him the satisfaction of knowing that he could handle a trying situation.

A friend who lived in the same house got two of Henry's shirts mixed with his own laundry. When the laundry was delivered this boy was out of town.

Carnegie

The delivery man demanded that Henry pay the entire bill of $15, or he couldn't have his two shirts. In vain Henry argued that he didn't want the other boy's laundry, that it could be held until the boy returned and paid his own bill. But Henry did want his own shirts. Naturally.

However, the man took the bundle of clothing back in its entirety to headquarters.

Henry thought it over that night after he went to bed. All of a sudden there came into his mind something he had once heard a successful salesman say about "talking from the other fellow's point of view."

The next day he went around to see the head of the laundry and found he had been advised of the shirt status. He said the delivery man was right; the bill must be paid before Henry could get his shirts.

Said Henry, "I see your point of view and I am sure I would feel as you do about it if I were in your place. Of course, you don't know that my friend will ever return for his laundry."

"Exactly," the laundryman agreed.

"And if he shouldn't you would be stuck with his clothing which you don't want."

"That's just the case," said the other man, "this isn't the first time such a thing has happened, you know."

"I'm sure of that," agreed Henry. "And as I say, I can't blame you however badly I need those shirts." He moved as if to go, saying, "I know my friend will return, I can only hope it will be this week."

At that the laundryman looked at him closely and said: "I'm sure you're telling the truth about your shirts and I'm going to take a chance on the other fellow coming back and paying his bill." Then he rang for one of the workers and told him to give Henry his shirts.

In acceptance of her office for the new term, Mrs. Ennis, after outlining plans for the coming year, asked the past year's chairmen to retain their posts and added two new chairmanships to the list. Chairmen are: study club, Mrs. George Rode; social welfare, Mrs. J. P. Green, confraternity, J. Kennedy; extension, Mrs. L. P. Lachini; legislation, Mrs. Christine Michelson; civic, Mrs. R. Pine; public relations, Mrs. Arthur Heyden; sewing, Mrs. Charles McDougal; sunshine, Mrs. Rose McNab; hospitality, Mrs. J. Core; share the faith, Mrs. Fred J. Wettstein; Fort Miley, Mrs. Dorothy Stewart; entertainment, Mrs. F. McDermott.

The Rev. William O. Stewart, the court chaplain, Mrs. Bernard O'Connell, district deputy, and Mrs. M. C. Weckerle, state secretary, were the speakers for the occasion. Several solos were rendered by Mrs. Walter Meade of Court Golden Gate and a duet was sung by Mrs. R. J. Ennis and Mrs. Arthur Heyden. Mrs. F. Wettstein, the piano accompanist, also presented several solo selections. Many out of town visitors from other courts attended this meeting.

The Court of St. Mary will recess until August 16.

SHERIDAN PTA PICNIC POSTPONED TO JUNE 28

According to Mrs. William Geiss, the Sheridan PTA picnic has been postponed to June 28 because of the inclement weather. It will be held at San Bruno Park, San Bruno, and everyone is invited.

Any future notices of picnics will be posted in the Ocean View Library window.

James Phillips Weds Pat Harris

Of special interest in Broadmoor circles recently was the wedding of Patricia Harris and James Phillips.

The couple were wed at St. Johns Presbyterian Church at Arguello and Lake Streets in San Francisco.

Acting as her sister's matron of honor was Mrs. Louis Manis, 211 Village Lane.

The wedding was attended by many local friends of the bride and family, including the Don Hagers and Sandy Sanders of Broadmoor.

Mr. Phillips is with the San Francisco police department.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By Mrs. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

INEVITABLY, there comes the day of shocked realization that the little boy or girl one has been thinking of as "scarcely more than a baby" has been transformed into an adolescent. The tomboy daughter who cared nothing for clothes develops an intense interest in the length of her hemline and the shape of her haircut. The lad who had to be browbeaten into washing his neck now showers of his own volition, shines his shoes, slicks his cowlick and spends his allowance on taking a girl to the movies.

Just as surely as a sudden shooting up in physical size, these are sign-posts along the road of growing up, and simultaneously one finds the home inhabited by a new and baffling personality with whom one must get completely reacquainted.

Volumes have been written about adolescence. Hundreds of theories have been expounded on the handling of the difficult in-between years. It is neither our province nor intention to solve the problems here in a paragraph! However, we offer a few good-natured pointers from a mother who seems to have steered four youngsters through teen-age bewilderments with fair success. She claims these do's and don'ts for parents—though superficial—are essential for keeping peace.

Avoid direct orders, consult your teen-agers as to likes and dislikes, consider his or her convenience as to the disposal of time. "We're planning early dinner tonight. Would you please try to get home by five-thirty?" is apt to get more cooperation than, "Get in at a decent hour this afternoon so you don't keep us all waiting for dinner as usual."

Don't criticize his or her friendships. The girl or boy you disapprove may have hidden qualities that answer a need in your child. And, too, slighting comment from you is likely to make him more defensively loyal toward the friend.

Protect adolescent growing pains against prying from younger brothers and sisters; discourage teasing by older ones; don't ask too many personal questions yourself! The teen-ager is entitled to some privacy and thrives on surrounding himself with an aura of mystery.

And above all—prepare yourself for late homecomings, at least on weekends. Face this worry stoically rather than set an arbitrary deadline which may make your youngster feel uncomfortably different from the crowd. Then firmly deny yourself the luxury of arising to confront the late comer with, "Where on earth have you been til this hour?"

"Of course," our friend admits ruefully on the last point, "there is always the chance that this considerate course of treatment may give your child the impression that you aren't concerned with his wanderings and that it's quite all right for him to come home even later next time!" A good compromise is to take the matter up the next morning—show your interest in the evening's events, and if the hour of arriving home was unusually late let your child know that you are entitled to an explanation. Just don't jump to the conclusion that he has committed a crime.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Last week, a fellow columnist, concluding quite a dissertation on the future of our high school hopefuls wrote: "Will a girl, who might have become a brilliant career woman if possessed of a college degree, wind up on the scrap heap of domesticity, frustrated and twisted?"

Aware of the Pegler-ish instincts of my worthy contemporary, I could easily skip his reference to the "scrap heap of domesticity" as sure-fire bait, except that his reaction and label is not uncommon, and represents at least one of the reasons women go outside the home for recognition. I think it's about time we set the record straight.

Domesticity, a woman's work in the home, is the noblest career of all, combining many talents besides the automatic mechanics of housekeeping. Brilliance is not wasted in the home, it is the one place it shows up to advantage.

Skill in the crafts, the arts, the business world and know-how, and personality and character are all essential for making a home a wonderful place to be. And I might point out that most industry and most business is centered around the domestic sphere.

While possibly devoid of glamor, homemaking has the ultimate in rewards—a loving and proud husband, a well adjusted family and loyal friends rather loom over the sterile gold or silver "service pin" representing twenty or thirty years of your life. What do you think, ladies?

Certainly a few women are destined to be leaders in politics or big business, but who is to say their potential is more important? As for being frustrated it is usually the career woman who is the victim, her feminine nature finally protesting the fast pace a career demands.

Finally let me say, the so called "scrap heap" is doing a pretty good job in the homes and communities. Gold, my man, is still where you find it. . .

MERGER

Two of Jeff's most popular grads of this year, are going into business for themselves and will open in Mid-City at the Shell Gas station, 2201 Mission and Vale streets, for business this week. Milt Tromborg and Ray Anderson are the new proprietors, and they will put their years of after-school experience plus their "book larnin'" and a dash of old fashioned enterprise to offer first rate service with the usual thorough features of lubrication, wax and polish, general maintenance, etc. Our best wishes to these boys, who are taking nothing for granted, not even the "most likely to succeed" format.

MILITARY MARGIN

On leave, Douglas Hope, USN, was the guest of his brother and brother's wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hope of 45 Muirwood Drive. In order to effect a family reunion last weekend, the Thomas Hope Sr's. arrived from Santa Rosa.

A Mather Field transfer for Lt. and Mrs. Evan Nesbit, presently of Hamilton Field. They were recent guests of Mrs. Nesbit's mother and father, Dora and Dick Hunter of 438 Crocker.

Miss Lorna Alvord was the object of a flying visit paid by Kenneth L. Thomas, USN, of the U.S.S. Manchester, stationed at Long Beach. A veteran of Korea, he was happy to get some "home cooking" at the home of Mrs. Ellen Bray, Lorna's mother, at 220 Los Olivas.

Arriving from Frankfort, Germany, was Mrs. Jack S. Martin, who is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. S. Garrison of 13 Muirwood Drive.

A new benedict is Donald Mohrweiss (Jeff '49) who is currently stationed with the Coast Guard in Alameda. He was married to Nancy Martin of Richmond, in early month rites performed in Sacramento. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mohrweiss of Daly City.

PROTOTYPE

A startled eye-witness to the Monday morning robbery of the Alemany-San Jose Safeway store, was Mrs. Edward Goldkuhl of 101 Westlake avenue. Approaching the intersection with her car, and accompanied by her children and a neighbor, she found herself only a few yards away from an exchange of gunshots, with all the characters performing in an authentic Hollywood style. . . The arrival of Daly City Chief of Police Sunderland with siren open, brought her back to the realization of her shopping chore. . . but after such excitement the shopping mood was definitely gone. . . and so were the robbers. . .

SEWING CIRCLE

Some 15 little girls, friends and neighbors of Dolores and Joan Spinetti, showed up last week to be active members of the Sewing Circle, which was presided over by Mrs. Spinetti at her home, 57 Muirwood Drive.

Their first project was yarn dolls, and their hostess reports that not only did they do well, but they were quiet and industrious as well! My bouguet of the month to Mrs. Spinetti for her enterprise and her interest, and an Amen from the neighbors. The refreshments, the kids report—were yummy!

INSTALLATION

Mrs. Bernard O'Connell, District Deputy (C.D.A.) was the Installing Officer in last week's ceremony, which was held by Court of St. Mary's (C.D.A.) in Daly City.

PAGING ELLERY QUEEN

Disturbed members of the Veteran Fireman's Assn. have enlisted the aid of the local constabulary, since the mysterious disappearance of the firemen's celebrated "axe" (which is a silver trophy) has come to light. This sterling group is understandably "burned up" about the whole thing, especially when they have a policeman, Sgt. Jimmie Welch, for president!

PUNCH LINE

Mayor Green's young son, Jimmy, decided he would collect some insects, and he found a suitable glass jar, with a metal screw top. After some reflection, he decided the bugs would need some ventilation, and proceeded to punch holes in the top.

An inadvertent slip, and poor Jimmy had run an ice pick right through his hand—necessitating an emergency ride to Junipero Serra hospital for Tetanus shots and treatment. Today the bugs are nonchalantly chewing foliage, while Jim is quite the hero—and happy to let it go at that. . .

LUNCHEON DATA

Hostessing a luncheon last week, was Mrs. William Lagomarsino who entertained at her home, 15 West Cavour street. Covers were laid for twelve guests and the charming decor carried out with arrangements of roses.

VACATION BOUND

Leaving today for Lake Tahoe for a summer sojourn and rest, was Mrs. Arthur Heyden, who will vacation at Sunnyside Resort, where she will be joined later by husband and guests. Accompanying her will be Major, her seventy-pound Boxer, who loves the place.

MIDDLE AISLE NOTES

Pasadena locale for the Saturday nuptials of Dr. Robert F. Gobar, popular Daly City practitioner, who will wed Miss Peggy Parsons of San Marino. The couple will reside in Daly City.

Saturday afternoon is the day Florence Hannah has chosen for her vow exchange with John Murphy, which will take place at Grace Presbyterian church. Florence is the daughter of Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Stanford Hannah and Mrs. Hannah, who reside in Garden Village. John is the son of the P. M. Murphys of San Francisco.

Also setting a date for the altar march was "Nickey" Giovannoni, who announced her engagement recently to Raymond Bruzzone.

HAPPY LANDINGS

The John A. Macauley Jr's. of 844 Wildwood became parents of a fifth son who was named Daniel David. Mr. Macaulay, who is a painter, is thinking of starting a baseball team or going into the shoe business. . . Proud as punch of his sons, the oldest will be ready for school this fall.

On Foothill Drive, little Sue and Connie Paizis, were very excited over the new ray of sunshine, a baby sister, who will be called Christine. This adorable feminine trio are the daughters of the George S. Paizis, who live at number 952, and are owners of the Sunshine Food Mart.

A St. Josephs Hospital debut for Richard John Ritter, second son of the J. W. Ritters of 91 Hillsdale Avenue. The American Can Co. personnel, where Mr. Ritter works, were several boxes of cigars to the good. . .

A second son also for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmberg of 714 Niantic Street. Named Douglas, he had quite a reception, with maternal grandmother Mrs. Mary Golini and her daughter Miss Mary Golini visiting from Boston for the happy event.

Truck Makes Turn Into Moving Auto

Turning off San Jose into Bepler Street, a truck Monday evening hit a car driven by a South San Francisco man.

Involved in the accident were: Ezequiel Urrutia, 204 Alta Mesa, South San Francisco; and the truck driver, Floyd Carson, 162 Taylor, San Francisco.

Police report no one was injured, although the front end of Urrutia's car was damaged.

Colma Bazaar For New School Funds

Order of Sisters From France To Preside Over Holy Angels Convent

Parishioners of the Holy Angels church in Colma recently held a meeting to decide the date and location of a church bazaar to raise funds for the newly proposed $350,000 elementary school and convent, according to Father Anthony Morrissey.

The bazaar will be held Saturday and Sunday evening, September 29-30, in Colombo Hall.

"This will be the finest convent on the Pacific Coast and will be constructed on the colonial Spanish plan," Father Morrissey said.

There will be three play-grounds attached to the school which will be so constructed that it may be extended to include 16 rooms if future conditions warrant a change.

When the structures are completed, an Order of Sisters will travel from Paris, France, for the purpose of instruction. An establishment of this order will be the first foundation in the San Francisco area and the second in California.

According to Father Morrissey, this Fall Festival Bazaar will be the opening affair to raise funds for the erection of the convent and elementary school.

A board of directors, headed by Mr. Michael Casenteni, has been appointed to plan the fund-raising affair.

Bible School Lists Activities

That there is still room for more children of every age at the Grace Presbyterian church daily vacation Bible school was announced from the church yesterday.

Many activities for children are on the schedule for this school which is in session every week day through July 6, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Of the Caravaners who are helping conduct the school, Miss Anita Walker is the leader, while Sherman Lum is in charge of the recreational period; Marian Titus is song leader and craft director and Elinor Jacobs works with the nursery and kindergarten children.

As the closing event of the Bible school next month, there will be a combined family dinner, birthday party and program. This Sunday the Caravaners will again have charge of the morning worship with Miss Jacobs presiding at the organ. Everyone is welcome.

Westlake Driver Is Involved In Accident

A minor accident involving two cars was reported in Westlake Monday afternoon.

Albert Jacoby, 18 Wilshire, allegedly struck a car driven by James McGovern, 674 Noe, San Francisco. The accident occurred at the N. Mayfair, Wilshire intersection.

Neither of the drivers was injured, although McGovern's car will need a repair job on the right front fender.

The "Rio de Janerio" struck a reef in San Francisco Harbor February 11, 1901, and went down with the loss of 128 lives.

Hospitalized Vets Entertained By VFW Auxiliary

by Clara Poket

Wednesday the following members of Old Glory Auxiliary 2044, V.F.W., went to the Palo Alto Veteran's hospital to entertain patients in Ward No. 11: President Shirley Walker, Bonnie Ellenwood, Mary Conti, Catherine McKeown, and Marjorie Johnson. These ladies were assisted by members of Matalan Auxiliary No. 2068, V.F.W., of San Mateo and Shore View Memorial Auxiliary No. 7124 of San Mateo.

During the evening refreshments were served and cigarets were given to the patients. Dancing with the patients was the highlight of the evening.

The music was donated by the newly organized "Haywire Trio" consisting of Joe Lewkowitz playing the bull fiddle, Bert Meritt playing the banjo, and Art St. Claire playing the electric guitar.

When this "Haywire Trio" visits these patients in Ward No. 11 and plays their catchy music, the boys seem to take a new lease on life they are in better spirits for the contact with the "Outside" as they call us visitors, or, more often, "our friends."

The members of Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044 wish to thank the "Orchestra" for their work and the donation of their time. . . Thanks again boys!

HAS ANYONE SEEN MRS. ROGER'S RING?

Still looking for a wedding ring of great sentimental value today is Mrs. Ruth Rogers, teacher at Woodrow Wilson School.

The ring was misplaced Wednesday, June 13. It is gold with three diamonds across the top, and was given Mrs. Rogers by her late husband.

A reward is offered to anyone supplying information which will lead to the recovery of the ring. Mrs. Rogers can be contacted at PLaza 5-2795.

Fay Sanders Goes To Altar With Roy Bishop

by Diane Daly

The Marriage Chapel of the Flowers was the setting June 23 for the wedding of Fay Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders, 52 Eastlake Avenue, to Roy Ed Bishop, U. S. Army.

Dressed in a suit of gray, the bride wore a shaded pink hat and accessories.

Matron of honor and best man duties were the pleasant task of the brides aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Sanders.

Officiating at the afternoon ceremony was The Rev. E. S. Strem. A small, intimate group gathered for cocktails at a downtown hotel. The reception took place at the Club Casino.

Receiving were the bride's parents, with Mrs. Sanders attired in a navy blue dinner dress.

For the reception the bride wore a lovely white lace over blue satin dress of ballerina length.

Honored guest was the bride's grandfather, Jack Monis, who flew here from New York to be present at the wedding.

The happy couple will honeymoon on the Russian River.

Lions Club Members Say Goodbye To Snell

Farewells and good wishes were exchanged between Daly City Lions and Jim Snell, Lion and former superintendent of schools here, at the regular club meeting Wednesday.

In honor of Snell's departure, the Lion's whipped up a cake with the appropriate greetings across the top. Several of the members, including President Gil O'Shaughnessy, expressed sorrow on behalf of all of Daly City that Snell had chosen to resign his post.

Snell is to take a teaching job with the Alameda Public Schools this fall, and will work for his PhD. at the University of California.

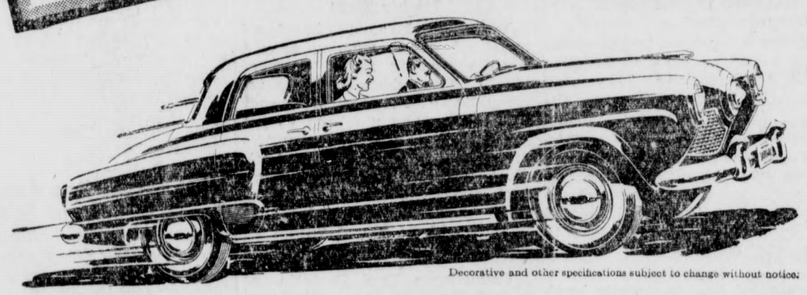

It was, also, by way of a farewell to O'Shaughnessy, who will step down from the president's job this Thursday evening. New officers are to be installed at a special meeting in San Mateo Thursday evening.

Guest speaker of the Wednesday meet was Mrs. Grigg, director of public information for the San Mateo County Red Cross. Mrs. Barry, her assistant, also spoke and showed a film on Red Cross work in the county.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

"We are the spinsters, the bachelors, the visiting friends—the ones who 'get it in the neck' from parents when we call!"

"Whatever do you mean?" query my dear parents. "We love to have you visit us. We try to make you feel really at home and a part of our families and here you are complaining about something. What do you mean 'get it in the end?' "

Well, dear parents, here is the pitch—as it were—the straight story from single friends of mine on the problem of visiting families. Think it over and see if you are one of the "guilty" ones.

"I," says a bachelor "am sick and tired of being called "UNCLE Bob" by children who are neither my nephews or nieces and who look at me like they wished I would go home and stay home. Their parents use me as a threat half the time and a bribe for the rest of it.

"Be a nice boy, now, or Uncle Bob won't come to see us again" or "Now give Uncle Bob a big kiss for the nice present!"

"It makes me sick" said Uncle—I mean Bob, "Why can't parents let their children just like me for myself—or hate me—. And another thing—I like to bring presents for my friends' children, but being made an honorary uncle sort of puts me over a barrel financially and morally. Even that wouldn't be so bad, but Hell—I haven't any idea what a two year old likes and the parents don't give out with any helpful ideas, either. They just get mad at little Johnny if he sticks up his nose at my present. Johnny then dislikes me and I feel like a dope."

There are undoubtedly many more ramifications to this Uncle and Aunt problem. How about a look around your own house and friends? Perhaps you are doing what my friend complains about without knowing or realizing its effect on your children and visitors. If so, try a different approach, you may find your house a happier place for everyone concerned.

DALY CITY SERVICEMEN "IN THE THICK OF IT"

Helping to provide a screen and plane guard for carriers of a task force operating off Korea is James E. Barbero, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Barbero of 3 Fairway Drive, Daly City, Calif., who is serving aboard the destroyer USS Arnold J. Isbell.

The Isbell arrived in the Far East last November and first took part in the Naval shore bombardment of the Korean coast.

As a part of a high-speed task force, she helps protect the carriers from submarine attack, repel enemy aircraft, and provide efficient rescue for downed pilots.

After nearly a year of operating against enemy forces in Korea, Ribler M. Durrett, electronics technician, second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce J. Durrett of 161 Hillcrest Drive, Daly City, Calif., recently returned to the United States aboard the light cruiser USS Manchester.

In supporting UN ground forces in Korea, the cruiser fired the greatest number of rounds of ammunition fired by any Allied warship in the campaign. Following one attack she was credited with more than 6,000 enemy troop casualties.

During its time in the combat zone, the Manchester participated in every major UN amphibious operation as well as the Naval shore bombardments of more than a dozen coastal cities, several of which were within a few miles of the Siberian border.

Robert M. Garcia, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Garcia of 531 San Diego ave., Daly City, Calif., has been advanced to fireman while serving at U. S. Fleet Activities, Yokosuka, Japan.

Garcia entered the Naval service August 8, 1950, and received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Before entering the Navy, he was graduated from Jefferson High School.

Dog Has Only Teeth For Girl's Legs

This dog was no gentleman . . . he bit a pretty girl.

Shirley McGargar, 17, 261 Wyandotte, reported to police that at 12:30 p.m. Friday a large dog waded into her shin. He took a healthy bite out of the attractive leg, police said.

The dog allegedly belongs to George Vlahovich, 173 Gambetta.

Fishing Trip And Bay Boat Ride Planned By Women For Summer Months

by Mrs. E. K. Whinnen

At th last meeting of the Daly City Sportswomen, Wednesday, June 20, a program of hoped for accomplishments was outlined to the membership and voted on favorably.

The program embraces a bay boat ride on July 22, for members and their husbands or boy friends and friends. The club will pay the fares of members, but fares of husbands, friends and children, will be paid by those attending. The Knox has been chosen as the excursion boat, having gone back into service in June after a complete refurbishing. The excursion is a two and one half hour trip to points of interest in the bay.

Fishing Trip

The Lake Merced fishing trip for the club, mentioned in this column from time to time, has been set for August. No definite date has yet been set, but will be at the July meeting. This is to be for the club members and their children and is in the order of a picnic. Hope the weather will co-operate.

The final event scheduled for the Club under tenure of this president is a Club dinner to be held in September. This will be for members only, and will be paid for by the Club. Time and place have not yet been set.

Some of the business that has been hanging fire for too long, was finished at the last meeting, which brings a cheer from this writer, at least. The choice of an emblem was definitely decided, and it was also decided that the Club would pay for the emblems for those members buying jackets.

Jacket Problem

Which brings us to jackets, the other business that has been in the fire ever since the Club was first formed. It was decided to let each member choose the style of jacket most becoming to her, since we Sportswomen are not all cut from the same pattern, but that the colors should be the same, blue and gold, which are the Club colors. It was also understood that we would all buy our jackets at the same place too, so that there would not be too wide a varience in style. Now that the troublesome question of emblem and jackets has been settled, we shall be looking forward to seeing some of our members, at least, blossoming out in same.

Thanks, All

A letter of "Thanks," was mailed this morning to Mr. Al Arnaudo, of the Shannon Hardware Store, for his much appreciated donation of a pressure cooker which was given away at the Daly City Rod and Gun Club picnic, in June.

This is late to be thanking anyone for such a nice gesture, but the secretary of the Club is on vacation and the matter was only brought to my attention at the last meeting on Wednesday. We hope Mr. Arnaudo will understand.

Dog Proves Merit

...Also Sounds Loud, Clear Bark

An Irish Setter pup now living with John Lindy, 622 San Diego, is usually a quiet, well behaved dog.

Lately, however, he has been barking considerably. In fact, Tuesday afternoon a neighbor complained the dog was making too much noise.

Reprimanded by officers, Lindy explained:

"The dog never barks unless he sees birds. I expect in two months he'll outgrow this phase."

With this knowledge, neighbors have become a little more tolerant . . . for what Irish Setter would be worth its dog food if it didn't bark at birds?

Hi there! In the good old summer time—vacation time that is—so let us begin.

NIMITZ

Happy birthday to Donna Stookey who was eleven-years-old last week. She enjoyed a family dinner to celebrate the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Luckhardt and their daughter, Donna, have been vacationing at Russian River and from there, they have been taking trips to Santa Rosa to look for a home. They are moving to Santa Rosa where Mr. Luckhardt has a job awaiting him—Assistant District Attorney—hm! Not bad.

I hear tell the Stookeys have friends from Milwaukee visiting them, Mr. & Mrs. Marcey Agnes.

MIDWAY

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wade Locke who are the proud parents of a baby girl born June 23 at the Mary's Help hospital. She is named Becky Locke and weighed in at 8 lbs., 14 ounces.

Little Doyle and Phyllis Clayton are at Geyserville visiting an uncle.

Mrs. Ed Kockus and her son Darrol of Lomida, California are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Locke. Mrs. Kockus is the sister of Mrs. Locke.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Solbaken have just returned from a vacation in Yosemite.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crofton and their three sons and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mattson and their three sons spent the weekend at Guerneywood Park. Mmmm—Sons to right of them, sons to the left of them—that makes six boys—whew!

87th STREET

Mrs. John Fies gave a canasta party with her new daughter-in-law to be, Diane Barton, as guest of honor. Twenty-five guests attended. Miss Barton and William Fies are to be married July 14.

LARCHMONT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huber and their family have just returned from a two week "vacation?" at Calastoga. I understand that they were helping their parents fix up their place.

HERE AND THERE

Den 7, pack 84 of the Boy Scouts visited Dude Martin's "Hoffman Hayride" television show last week in San Francisco. Attending the affair were Billy Krueger, David Clark, Reed Price, Gary Hopper, Bill Doherty and two mothers, Mrs. Krueger and Mrs. Hopper.

COLMA

Mrs. John C. Wiesner spent the week at the home of her parents in the country.

I hear tell that Mrs. Edward Dennis entertained her niece from Petaluma.

FOOTHILL

Dinner guest Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Jones were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson and their daughter Nancy, and Mrs. Emma Jones and Betty Jones, all of San Francisco.

FOOD POISONING CASES APPEAR IN CALIFORNIA

Cases of Botulism again are appearing in California, Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, State Director of Public Health, said this week as he issued a warning on use of home-canned products which can become infected with the poison.

"While home canning is good for the family budget," Halverson said, "nevertheless the housewife should scrutinize all meat, fish, poultry or vegetables which are canned without a pressure cooker, and careful watch should be made when a pressure cooker is used."

The public health director pointed out cases of Botulism appear in California almost every year, and always from the same cause, improper home-canned products.

He pointed to the example of a house-wife in Monterey county who recently opened a jar of string beans.

Housewife Lucky

'She was lucky enough to notice a musty odor," said Halverson, "and tasted one bean. She then threw the remainder of the jar to the poultry, and within a few hours, every chicken and duck she owned was dead, and the housewife herself narrowly escaped death from the one bite."

He pointed out the presence of Botulism usually is not apparent, stating that only fruits, berries and a few high acid vegetables may be safely canned after cooking in the oven, an open kettle, or in a boiling water bath. A prescooker with a tested guage is essential for all other products, he stated.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Grand Passion

"MY FIRST KNOWLEDGE of what real love is came only after I had been married nine years," writes Jessica Cady from Wilmington. "I was going along quite contentedly, not realizing that I was missing the most wonderful thing in life. I had married at 17, feeling all a girl's foolish pride at being the first of my class to marry. Carleton, my husband, was then 27, and seemed a very important person to me. That we were badly matched certainly occured to us both in the next few years; we were not congenial, we had no common interests in conversation, but we were the parents of two lovely girls, and there seemed no purpose in any course but the usual quiet married life.

"Then, while Carleton was away in the south seas, I met a man I will call Fred. We had worked together in an assembly plant for almost a year before quite suddenly the earth shook beneath us and we discovered our love. Fred also was the father of two children, older than mine. Between himself and his wife at this time there was hardly more than civility.

Ecstasy

"Our love was all the ecstasy, the rapture and delight of all the books and movies, all the great songs and pictures. We were swept off our feet, and for almost a year, while giving the world no evidence of our devotion, we lived in a Paradise of our own. When Carleton came home I told him quite simply of the tremendous change that had come into my feelings, and asked for a divorce.

"That was one year ago, and it has been the most terrible year of my life. My love for Fred is like a tearing fire inside me; I cannot go back and wipe it out as if it had never been. But several circumstances have made divorce seem less than a solution.

". . . discovered our love . . ."

"In the first place Carleton insisted that everything should go along in our home as it had been before he went away. He says that if he ever sees Fred anywhere near me he will shoot him; for the rest, nothing is to change. He will not consider a divorce, and threatens me with open disgrace and separation from my daughters if I insist upon it. For the girls' sake this is, therefore, out of the question, for my lawyer tells me that he could claim the girls if he brought the matter to court.

"Fred is anxious for me to leave Carleton, establish myself in my old beauty-parlor work, and wait until matters at his house clear up somewhat, when he will also ask for a divorce. But this seems to me so lonely and uncertain a plan that I hesitate to take the step. Fred will give me written promises that the moment we are both free we will marry, and I know several women who have managed their affairs this way, breaking all ties first and trusting to time. If I had no children I undoubtedly would do this, but they need me now and depend on me.

All Wrong

"But surely it is all wrong, from every standard of real morality and common sense, for Fred to be prisoned in his house with a woman whose affection for him died years ago, and for me to be chained here, with a man who despises me, and the empty shell of a life? Is this civilization, and is real love so wrong a thing that it must be penalized this way?

"Can't you help me with some of your own philosophy to find a happier way out than this? I feel as if I should go mad, meekly settling down to a life so empty, so lonely and so purposeless, after having had just a few months of glorious satisfaction. Fred I never see, and although I have sometimes broken my promise, and have written him, he has kept to his word to have no further communication with me at all. Tell me what to do to maintain my own sanity and be happy again."

Of course there is no answer to this letter.

When trouble breaks out in marriage a woman has many bulwarks to uphold her. Society recognizes her position, she has her place and her responsibility to steady her, she can with perfect dignity wait for the skies to clear.

But the illicit affair gives a woman no such comfort. There is no limit to the shame, the longing, the unsatisfied desire that a love-affair such as Jessica's causes, when the glow of it has gone. She has absolutely nothing in the way of self-respect, or the sympathy of friends.

COMMUNITY CHESTS SOUGHT CONTROL OF TRACK "CHARITY DAYS" FUNDS

Attempts of Community Chests to muscle into the lucrative returns from Charity Days at California race-tracks met with complete extinction at the hands of the State Senate Governmental Efficiency and Economy committee.

Through Assembly Bill 2479, by Assemblyman A. I. Stewart, of Pasadena, the Community Chests hoped to set up a separate board to take disbursements of Charity Day funds out of the hands of the race-tracks and put them in control of a separate board.

This separate board would have been made up of at least two thirds of members who had no connection whatever with a race-track.

The measure was brought about, it was learned, through a report of the State Racing Commission, which receives reports on charity disbursements by the tracks, but has no control over where the money goes.

$60,000 In 1948

Charity Days, which are in addition to regular racing days allocated tracks by the state, result in some important money. For instance, Bay Meadows, in 1948 alone, obtained a net of more than $60,000 from its Charity Days, and has disbursed funds to all types of charities, from veteran's organizations to youth building groups including churches.

General manager of the track William P. Kyne has been generous with Charity Day money, and has earned the reputation over a period of years of not turning down legitimate requests. It is understandable that the request usually are much greater than the funds availab'e to fill them.

On the other hand, and being wholly practical, the race tracks build good-will through disbursement of the funds, and obviously, they wanted to continue putting out the money where it would do them the most good.

Community Chest representatives, however, supported the Stewart measure, which apparently was aimed at siphoning the greater share of the fund to charities recognized by Community Chests.

Kyne Disturbed

When Kyne and ex-Assemblyman Wililam Hornblower, President of Bay Meadows, heard about the bill, they were disturbed, to say the least. To stand the expense and responsibility of running several extra days of racing, with no profit, and then have the net proceeds distributed by an agency wholly without their control, and the same applies to other tracks, appeared to be an injustice as far as the tracks were concerned.

Although the bill passed the Assembly, it went to the Senate committee headed by Senator Harry F. Parkman, San Mateo county, who is favorable to the desires of the race tracks.

Even so, Parkman gave a fair hearing to the bill, and both sides of the issue were presented to the committee.

Added to Hornblower's opposition, another ex-legislator, Senator Ralph Swing, representing Santa Anita, was among those who voiced opposition.

There was no recorded vote on the bill, but it was apparent that most of the members of the committee were against it, and as a result, it was buried on a motion to table.

Fred & Vince Lose To San Quentin 5-2

The Fred and Vince Liquors lost a tough game to the San Quentin All-Stars last Sunday, 5-2. This was the local club's first defeat in league competition.

Leading for seven innings by a score of 2-0, Vince Voto of Fred and Vince Liquors had fashioned a three hitter, but two errors and three hits scored five runs and spelled defeat for the local team.

The game only lasted one hour and 35 minutes. Each team made six hits and had 33 men at bat.

Champion Eastern Riders In Motorcycle Races

Entries from several more top-notch eastern riders were received today for the $7,500 National Championship Motorcycle races to be held Sunday, July 1, at Bay Meadows.

Late entrants include Jimmy Chann, of Peoria, Ill., who has won six national titles in the last four years, Dick Klamforth of Groveport, Ohio, who took the 100-mile crown at Laconia, N. H., this month, and Bobby Hill of Columbus, Ohio, second in the 200-mile national at Daytona.

Chann, who was last year's favorite but finished fourth, is returning for another shot at the U. S. 20-mile title in the feature attraction on the nine-race program. Klamforth and Hill will be making their first appearance in the west.

The hazards of motorcycle racing has eliminated five riders who were expected to compete here. Larry Headrick, of San Jose, last year's winner, and Elmer Von Enzweiler of South Newport, Ky., are nursing broken legs.

An accident in the races at Stockton last Sunday hospitalized three riders, Bill Crane of Mountain View, Tex Luse of Los An-Sacramento.

However, more than 100 outstanding race riders from all sections of the country will be here for the west coast's second annual championship 'cycle races.

Anticipating a larger crowd than the 15,000 who watched last year's races here, Kyne today rented bleacher seats which will be available to general admission ticket holders.

Nine races are scheduled, the first starting at 1:45 p.m. Sunday. Time trials for experts will begin at 10:30 a.m. Practice runs will be continuous from 8:30 a.m. on Saturday until 2 p.m. and at 3 p.m. Saturday time trials for amateurs start.

Tickets for box and reserved seats are on sale until Saturday at motorcycle dealers in the bay area and at Bay Meadows. Saturday and Sunday tickets will be available only at the track.

JEFFERSON PREP STAR ASSIGNED TO SAN FRANCISCO SEAL ROSTER

Daly City's stellar pitching prep, Ed Cereghino, 6-2, 210 pound right-hander who led Jefferson High to two PAL championships, was finally signed to a New York Yankee contract for a bonus purported to be approximately $50,000.

There were many baseball clubs in both the National and American leagues bidding for the 17-year-old pitching phenonm's services before the Yankee's West Coast Scout Joe Devine inked Ed's name to a contract.

A week and a half were spent in bickering with agents, representing various major league teams until Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Ed finally signed his future away to the New York club.

It was presumed that Ed would be sent to one of the Yankee's many farm clubs, but Wednesday an announcement was made that Ed had been optioned to the San Francisco Seals.

The New York club has had a working agreement with the Seals who are in sore need of a good right-hander as Ed Cereghino. "Lefty" O'Doul, manager of the Seals, is known for his ability to guide promising talent and this may have had something to do with the Yankee's decision to option Ed to the local club.

Although Ed's father believed that his son deserved a $100,000 bonus, Mr. Cereghino's decision was greatly influenced by his knowledge of the vast Yankee farm system and the subsequent training his son would receive under Yankee tutelage.

If Ed receives more than $50,000 he will be the first prep baseballer to surpass the $50,000 bonus mark in the San Francisco Bay Area.

In pitching Jefferson High to a Peninsula Athletic League championship this year, Ed was incomparable, both afield and while at bat.

During the season Ed won 12 games, lost three, and pitched one tie. He struck out 184 batters, walked 27, and allowed 53 hits. By the end of the season Cereghino was also the leading hitter on his team, compiling a .333 average.

There is no mystery why this super-baseballer was chosen "Player of the Year" by peninsula sports writers.

At the East-West prep All-Star game he was literally a one-man show as he completely baffled the opposition, striking out 15 Westerners. He also hit a tremendous clout 380 feet over the left field wall, proving his prowess at the plate to the assembled crowd which included baseball scouts.

For his achievements during that game he was named the outstanding player.

The $50,000 represents a formidable sum now-a-days. When Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indian's fire-balling hurler was first signed as a "bonus baby" he was given only $2,500, but of course that was over 14 years ago.

Cereghino To Hurl

Manager Lefty O'Doul was so impressed with Ed Cereghino's control during batting practice Wednesday that he decided to use him in a starting assignment in the seven inning game of the double-header against San Diego on Sunday at Seal's stadium.

This will be an acid test for "Big" Ed, since he will face such sluggers as Jack Graham, former home run hitting first baseman for the Seals; Clarence Maddern, who is known for his runs-batted-in potential; and foremost on the Padre roster, Walt Dropo, "Rookie of the Year" in 1950 with the Boston Red Sox.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy reports there was no damage.

TROUT PLENTIFUL AT LAKE MERCED

Although this Bay Area metropolis isn't exactly the heart of the trout fishing country, more than 1,200 San Franciscans fish for rainbows each week — without leaving the city limits!

The city slickers get their sport on a catch-as-catch-can basis in the municipally-owned emergency water supply, Lake Merced. More than a hundred of them snatch an hour's fishing before work in the early morning, or stop off to see how they're biting after work.

Aurie V. Kuntz, city-licensed boat livery operator, has reported Lake Merced angling activities for the month of May to the Bureau of Fish Conservation, Division of Fish and Game.

Kuntz revealed that his 71 boats are averaging a total of 60 rentals every week day, with a cargo of two anglers on each boat. Weekend rentals average 140 to 150 a day. The boat fishermen usually stay out for about 80 minutes and their average catch is better than half a trout per angler per trip.

Hundreds of other San Franciscans of all ages hook their fish from the lake shore. Nearly 75,000 catchable-sized trout were placed in the waters this year by the State agency.

Boats are available week days beginning at 5:30 a.m., and on weekends from 5 a.m. until dark.

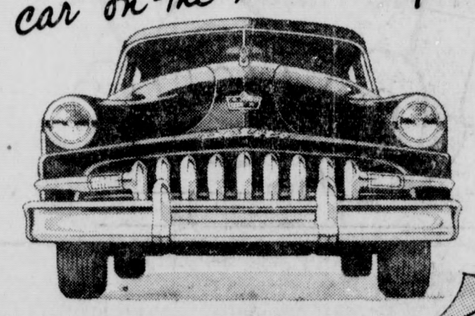

And by 6 a.m. the lake is dotted with mechanics, bank clerks, longshoremen and brokers — each working hard to land their limit of two trout.

MORE JOBS THAN EVER BEFORE IN CALIFORNIA

Analysis of California's labor market by the State Department of Employment this week revealed that more people are working in this state than at any time in the state's history.

A mid-May total of 4,426,000 workers were on the job, according to James G. Bryant, director of the department, who said this represented a gain of about 75,000 since mid-April.

At the same time, Bryant said that unemployment in California totaled 174,000 persons at the middle of May, about half of the unemployed being on unemployment insurance.

The decrease in unemployment was not as heavy this year as was the rise in employment, indicating the entry into the state's labor force of seasonal workers and migrants.

The civilian labor force in California, including persons at work, and those seeking work, totaled about 4,600,000. In May, compared with 4,457,000 in April, and 4,473,000 in May of 1950.

Agriculture, Bryant said, accounted for about 51,000 of the net gain in employment, followed by government establishments, which added aproximately 12,000 civilian workers.

Total employment in manufacturing establishments showed little change during the month, with decreases in some consumer goods, and the fabricated metal industry, balance by increases in lumbering, and manufacture of aircraft, electrical equipment and primary metals.

Cycle Driver Injured In Crash

Crashing headlong into the front of a moving automobile, a San Francisco motorcyle driver narrowly escaped serious injury here Tuesday afternoon.

Treated at Junipero Serra Hospital for knee wounds was George Canlas, 20, 60 Harriet Street, San Francisco.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Fieldcrest and Lake Vista at 4:17 p.m. Tuesday. Canlas collided with a car driven by James Albero, 11 Risel Street.

Pending further investigation, neither driver was cited by police.

Both the car and the motorcycle were towed away, and described by police as "badly damaged."

Civilian Defense—

Minimum of 100 First Aid Stations Needed In This Area To Combat A-Bomb

Eighteen thousand trained men and women will be needed to man first aid stations if any one of California's eight target cities are hit in an atomic attack.

This was the estimate expressed Monday, June 25, by Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, State Director of Public Health.

Dr. Halverson spoke on the weekly state-wide broadcast presented by the State Office of Civil Defense.

Others who discussed medical aspects of California's Civil Defense plan included Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, State CD Director, and his deputy, Orville R. Caldwell.

Minimum Need

Dr. Halverson declared that a minimum of 100 first aid stations would be needed in each city if San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, San Diego, Long Beach, Sacramento, Fresno or San Bernardino were attacked.

"Each station will require a total of 181 trained people," Dr. Halverson said. "This would include two doctors, three dentists, three nurses, two pharmacists, six clerical assistants, 15 adequately trained first aid workers, or nurses' aides, and 150 litter bearers."

General Robertson warned that in the event of a simultaneous attack on all eight cities all the doctors, dentists and nurses in California would be insufficient to care for the injured.

Flight Plans

To meet such a situation, Dr. Halverson explained, arrangements are being made to fly in physicians and nurses from other parts of the nation.

"Just what areas we could appeal to would, of course, depend greatly on what other cities throughout the country suffer an atomic attack at the same time," he emphasized.

"Even with all the assistance that could be sent to us, the situation would be extremely critical."

Reminding the public that doctors and nurses would be among the victims of an attack, Dr. Halverson said:

Mobile Support

"Atomic bombs are no respecters of medical personnel. We must figure on a considerable number of doctors, dentists and nurses being casualties and unable to treet other injured."

Organization of mobile medical support teams to provide for movement of doctors to areas where most needed is one of the most important phases of the Civil Defense program, General Robertson said.

Plans to prevent epidemics following an atomic attack will be the subject of next week's Civil Defense broadcast.

(Ed Note: This is the first of a series of reports by your Daly City Recreation Department on activities in the various parks during the summer months. Watch The Record each week for these events which are of interest to you and your children.)

by Bucky Linhares

Marchbanks playground officially opened for the summer on June 18, offering more in the way of recreation than it ever has before.

There are now three large areas that offer wonderful recreation for all ages. A huge grassed area offers a place for games such as football, softball, and for those interested in baseball, the Marchbanks diamond can hold its own with any in the bay area. For the smaller children there is a large area newly equipped with the best of a variety of play apparatus. The newest of all is an area set aside in the form of a basketball court, a roller skating rink and horseshoe courts.

During the opening week many of the familiar faces were back on the scene. Joe Sacchieri could be seen tossing the horse shoes. Gerry Grunwald was as usual taking a nap on the grasss. Johnny Seltzer was making like Tarzan on the trapeze bars and little Arty Rasmussen was besieging the directors with questions. There were lots of other familiar faces along with many new ones.

Number one on the hit parade of outings for the summer was the Thornton Beach Party, which vear after year had been a tremendous success. It is an offering of not too long a hike, a picnic, surf bathing and games on the shore. It caused a large turnout at Marchbanks with all participants having the usual wonderful time.

Not to be outdone by the track classics at Berkeley, the Recreation Department will have its yearly Junior Olympics at 1:30 p.m. at the High School, Friday, July 6th. Although Marchbanks has lost such outstanding athletes as Jack Elaine and Carl Grunwald, we have hopes of taking this important track and field event.

LINCOLN PLAYGROUND

by Don Woll

Well, Lincoln Park was opened for summer vacation and after the first week of organization and free activity, plans were being made for outings and team activity of all types. A large interest on the part of the girls has been day camping.

As far as boys are concerned, they are primarily interested in organizing for a baseball and basketball league with other parks. Both boys and girls are interested in the outings as planned by Daly City Recreation Department as was shown by the huge turnout for the Thornton Beach Party, held Friday, June 29. Everyone enjoyed the hike down and of course, playing tag and ball in the sand.

So, with one outing done and well attended, everyone is looking forward to the Junior Olympics to be held at Jefferson High School, Friday, July 6, at 1:30 p.m. So, by the end of several weeks, everyone will be well acquainted and sports will be organized for a well rounded summer program.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

by Regina Warchot

As softballs rolled into yards and children ran playfully over lawns around certain areas of the city, such as Crocker, Jefferson Elementary and Jefferson High Schools, the population of Daly City was well aware of the fact that school was again closed for three whole months.

But the children of our fair city are not sitting idly by as the director of Arts and Crafts, James Kraywinkel, and the assistant director, Regina Warchot, can tell you. For these directors believe that the children who are frequenting Arts and Crafts are very skilled in drawing, tracing and cutting out pictures. I am sure that if any on-lookers stood outside of Crocker, Little Jefferson or Parkview, when the children were dismissed from Arts and Crafts, and saw the children run past with dozens of rocking horses, turtles, baskets, statues, or bracelets, that they would not only agree with the directors but also feel sure that this work was keeping the children happy.

The directors of Arts and Crafts would like to extend an invitation to everyone who is artistically inclined and who is four years of age or older, to come and have fun while you work at Arts and Crafts.

By the way, the bracelets that Mary Lou Gordan, Danny Curtin and Virginia Pezzago made were really beautiful—congratulations.

JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

by Beverly Clement and L. Reese

Last week the ten age folk dancers met and decided to form a club. They haven't decided on a name as yet, but they meet from 10:30-11:30 a.m., Tuesday and Thursdays. The officers elected were:

President—Darlene Hynes
Vice-Pres.—Pam Hix
Secretary—Carol Glover
Manager—Andrew Ruelis

The first week at Jefferson was spent largely in organizing teams and activities. Tuesday morning saw a large turnout of boys from 8-11 years of age for the baseball clinic. Instructions in fundamentals was begun and continued on Thursday morning. Ed Cereghino umpired a baseball game for the older boys (over 11) on Tuesday afternoon. Two teams of these older boys are being organized for league play. Basketball will be organized this week if enough boys desire to take part in this sport. In the game room, table tennis, checkers, chess and pool have proved most popular.

The first movie, along with two episodes of the dramatic Red Barry Serial, filled the Little Theater for two performances.

Little Red Box Interests Boys

Two little boys with time on their hands, and more than a usual amount of curiosity, caused local firemen to fret and fume here Tuesday afternoon.

The two five-year-olds climbed up on a garbage can and pulled the nice little lever on the red box at Templeton and Mission Streets. Then, to their apparent surprise, a siren sounded on top of the hill. They became alarmed, and made a line for a local cleaning shop.

A few minutes later firemen answering the false alarm found the two boys hiding in the shop.

The lads were reprimanded by the firemen, and it is believed they both had reason to wish for a little cool water on the back of their trousers when they returned home.
